SPIDER AND TIGER TEAMS BATTLE TO SCORELESS TIE

Richmond College Placed on Defensive During Greater Part of Exciting Contest.

BOTH LINES ARE IMPENETRABLE

Leaders of Eastern Virginia Inter-Collegiate Athletic Association Championship Race Retain Same Standing.

(By Staff Correspondent.)

HAMPDEN-SIDNEY, Va., Nov. 15.—Neither Richmond College nor Hampden-Sidney was able to cross the scoring line in "Death Valley" yesterday afternoon, and what was to be the deciding contest in the Eastern Virginia Inter-Collegiate Athletic Association race ended in a scoreless tie, leaving the two contenders fighting tenaciously to first place in the standing. The Spiders had one prime chance to capture the coveted victory when they reached the Hampden-Sidney ten-yard line early in the play, but missed it by a yard. The Tigers, on the other hand, Younger's men also tried with the goalpost, especially in the last period, but only a stalwart Red and Blue defense checked them.

It was a battle of two scrapping eleven-men, the Spiders putting up a beautiful defense, which was noticeable when the Tigers rushed them back in their own part of the field. However, the Spiders' defense was not as good as the Tigers' offense. The Spiders' line failed to give to the Richmond College players a chance to advance at wide runs were spoiled by the Farmville players with the result that Richmond College was kept on the defensive most of the game. Only two noticeable gains were made by the Spiders, one by Stued for nine yards and Jones for nine and three-quarter yards. They made but four first downs, three in the first half and one in the second half.

Spiders' Chances Cut Off.
Before the game got settled down to seriousness the Spiders started what appeared to be a triumphant march to victory. The Tigers kicked off to the will on the ten-yard line, who came back seventeen yards. Ziegler scored on a half-yard, Towill seven and on a half-yard, and Ziegler four yards for first down. Towill hit right tackle for another three-yard gain, and Ziegler moved the eleven-men with an additional yard for the second first down. Lane plunged center for three yards and Ziegler twice for two and a half yards. Broadus was called back for a kick, but Shepherd spiraled the pigskin over Broadus' head for a loss of twenty yards. The Spiders' defense was not as good as the Tigers' offense. The Spiders' line failed to give to the Richmond College players a chance to advance at wide runs were spoiled by the Farmville players with the result that Richmond College was kept on the defensive most of the game. Only two noticeable gains were made by the Spiders, one by Stued for nine yards and Jones for nine and three-quarter yards. They made but four first downs, three in the first half and one in the second half.

Tigers on Offensive.
From this time forth Richmond College, with few exceptions, began its defensive game. The Tigers forced them to operate in Richmond College territory. They did this by long drives and runs which were largely produced by superb massed interference. Jones called his end runs around the Spiders' right flank. Here Kappes and Tobins were either swept aside or crushed by the steam roller, although both men got some pretty tackles. Jones was master of the Tigers' ground gaining operations in scoring yards, making runs for thirteen and eleven yards. However, he made numerous other attempts which ended nothing. Warren cut loose one beautiful run through a broken field for twenty-two yards, but aside from this made no feature plays, while Smith and Broadus pushed for yards and the Red Tigers subtracted a total of 20 yards from this. Jones, the other Tiger, broke under general attack with surety and steadiness.

Make Tries for Field Goals.
After it was seen that winning the game by a touchdown was an improbability, Coach Younger sent Day for Hogan and launched an effort to win by a field goal. Day tried three times to kick and Bunney drew back due to at least four cases of failed attempts. The Tigers' defense was not as good as the Spiders' offense. The Spiders' line failed to give to the Richmond College players a chance to advance at wide runs were spoiled by the Farmville players with the result that Richmond College was kept on the defensive most of the game. Only two noticeable gains were made by the Spiders, one by Stued for nine yards and Jones for nine and three-quarter yards. They made but four first downs, three in the first half and one in the second half.

There was a lack of aerial attack especially on the part of the visitors. They endeavored to pass twice, Jones intercepting one and the other being incomplete. The Tigers had a greater affinity for this style, however, coming only once. Two failed, and three others were intercepted by Spiders. Ziegler, Lane and Jones figured in direct bearing on the result. Lane evidently saving the day for Richmond College. Lane also exhibited excellent tackling on secondary defense. After Lane was downed on his thirteen yard run, Broadus took the ball out of danger with a forty-yard punt and shortly after the contest closed on the thirty yard line.

CADETS HUMBLE COLBY ARMY AND NAVY TEAMS DEFEAT COLLEGE CLUBS

Eleven Second String Cambridge Players Take Tufts' Measure by Score of 25 to 0.

(By Universal Service.)
NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Cambridge was humbled today by Wesleyan's eleven by a score of 25 to 0, notwithstanding the fact that the team's splendid form shown in the first half, during which it started by blanketing Wesleyan in its first period and closing the second period with this score almost even, 7 to 6 in the visitor's favor.

But when play started in the second half, Captain Herman's head players simply ate up the game, adding 21 points to their score while Columbia was adding seven.

In the closing game of the season at the Annapolis oval the Navy gave the light Colby team a terrible drubbing, winning by 121 to 0. It was by far the biggest score of the season and almost a record number of points. The midshipmen put up a powerful game, but the visitors were extremely tired, particularly in the first half, in which they were slaughtered to the tune of 80 points. Colby rallied in the third quarter, holding the Navy to one touchdown.

Penn State completely outplayed Cornell at Ithaca, distancing the eleven from the coasted temple of learning by a score of 20 to 0. The visitors' brand of football was a fine exhibition of brain, brawn, speed and team work. The score would have climbed much higher but for the Ithaca's gallant defense.

The Army eleven wound up its home season at West Point by a victory over the coasted temple of learning by a score of 20 to 0. The visitors' brand of football was a fine exhibition of brain, brawn, speed and team work. The score would have climbed much higher but for the Ithaca's gallant defense.

RUSSIAN HEAVYWEIGHT IS MATCHED WITH ED LEWIS
Catch-as-Catch-Can Wrestling Bout Will Be Staged at Strand Friday Night.

Europe continues to send over heavy-weight grapplers who aspire to the title of champion of the world. One of the latest of the European contenders who will display his wares before a night with Ed Lewis, the match will be staged in the Strand Theater. Stanislaus, a Russian physical specimen and his strength should stand him in good stead in his bout here.

BUCK CHEEVES STARS
University of Georgia Battles Tulane Gridiron Eleven to a 7-to-7 Tie.

(By Associated Press.)
ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 15.—The University of Georgia and Tulane University battled to a 7-to-7 tie here this afternoon. Tulane scored the first touchdown in the first period when Georgia fumbled and H. Talbot, Tulane's right tackle, ran forty yards for the goal.

Georgia scored in the second period by using a series of line bucks after the ball had been carried to within seven yards of Tulane's goal. Buck Cheeves, of Georgia, was the individual star of the game.

GENERALS BEAT U. OF S. C.

AERIAL ATTACK PROVES TOO MUCH FOR VISITORS

Mattox and Corbett Work Passes to Perfection, Final Score Being 20 to 0.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
LEXINGTON, Va., Nov. 15.—Washington and Lee defeated the University of South Carolina here today, 20 to 0, in the last game of the season on Wilson Field. The Carolinians fought hard throughout the game, but were unable to break up the Generals' aerial attack or stop the powerful Blue and White backs when once they got underway.

Stevens, the Generals' big half and star punter, was in the game for the first time in three weeks, and tore through Carolina's line and around ends at will. His punting was the best seen here for many seasons. The Mattox-Corbett aerial combination was invincible in the first, Corbett scoring the first touchdown with a beautifully executed forward pass for thirty yards. Carolina afforded her only thrill in the first quarter when blunt recovered a fumble and ran for eighty yards. After three futile attempts Bailey blocked an attempted field goal and the ball went over.

In the second quarter, Stevens and McDonald ploughed through Carolina's line for long gains and Mattox and Corbett got busy again with forward passes. Mattox carried the ball over for the second touchdown. Corbett received a forward pass and carried the ball over again in this quarter, but the play not having been executed five yards back, the ball was returned to the field.

Colgate Loses Classic Game to Syracuse, 13-7

(By Associated Press.)

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Nov. 15.—Colgate's crack eleven lost the classic game of the year to Syracuse here today, 13 to 7. The Maroon team was completely outclassed and worked under further disadvantage in a muddy field. Both teams played a fast game, although fumbles were numerous but not costly to either side. Not until Syracuse had scored its thirteen points did Colgate show any form, and then she worked a forward pass and managed to break the Orange line on her own five-yard line. A forward pass won for Syracuse, although several previous attempts had failed.

SOCCER PROSPECTS ARE GOOD FOR RECORD YEAR

Several Former Service Men Turn Out in Open Practice at Byrd Park.

Soccer practice was in full swing yesterday at Byrd Park, and prospects for a successful season are good. Several ex-service men who learned the game in camp or abroad were out, and showed a good knowledge of the fine points of the game. Coach Flindley put the players through their paces, and was well pleased with results. It is hoped to formally open the season about Thanksgiving Day with an out-of-town team, probably Baltimore or Newport News. A hearty invitation is given to all recruits and old players to attend practice trials at Byrd Park next Saturday.

V. P. I. LICKED BY 3 POINTS N. C. STATE IS VICTORIOUS IN HOTLY-CONTESTED GAME

Both Clubs Present Impregnable Lines in Grid Struggle Staged at Norfolk.

(By Associated Press.)
NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 15.—North Carolina A. & E. defeated V. P. I. here this afternoon by the score of 3 to 0, in a hotly contested gridiron battle, in which the two clubs presented impregnable lines, and all efforts at materials gains by forward passes proved abortive.

Repeated tries were made for field goals, but without success until Curley, of the State eleven, put the pigskin squarely between the bars from the forty-five-yard line, in the fourth quarter. This lone score was enough to win the game.

Throughout the contest the visitors showed superior work, registering nine first downs. Homewood was the particular star of the game. Four thousand five hundred spectators witnessed the contest.

LOSS OF LEG NO HANDICAP TO SWARTHMORE JUNIOR

Active in All Sports Since Limb Was Cut Off in Railroad Accident.

IS CAPTAIN OF SOCCER TEAM

James F. Bogardus, With Artificial Member, Plays Tennis, Football and Other Games With Great Ease and Ability.

The loss of a leg is no handicap to a fellow in the field of sport. This is the opinion of James F. Bogardus, of Swarthmore, Pa., whose left leg was severed just below the knee twelve years ago when his foot became wedged between a rail and a defective guard on a little Ohio crossing, and an engine passed over it. Bogardus, now twenty-four years old, is a junior at Swarthmore College, where he has been extremely active in sports, having played on the varsity soccer eleven, as well as upon various class teams. During his preparation for college at George School, he indulged in every sport, being for three years a player on the varsity tennis team, a member of the swimming team, a soccer player and a basketball man.

At the time of the accident, James Bogardus, more affectionately known to his prep and college friends as "Gee", was twelve years of age. Being then an ardent player on several juvenile teams, many of his friends expressed regret that in the
